

Green Events

Take your next event that little bit further...

What are Green Events?

- » Green Events are those which are powered by 100% accredited green energy. Hosting a green event is a great way to both minimise carbon impact as well as actively promote the event organiser's focus on addressing the issue of climate change.
- » Only 100% accredited GreenPower™ renewable energy is used for the event consumption, event organisers may be eligible to use the GreenPower™ logo in association with the event.

What makes us stand out from the rest?

- » Museum of Sydney in conjunction with AGL Energy is able to assist events organisers with a range of services to enable events to be powered by green energy.
- » MOS in conjunction with AGL can work with event organisers to create a range of green event packaged offerings and can even help with advice on suppliers of other products/services in this space.
- » AGL can also provide offsets where an event organiser wants to neutralise non-electricity related emissions attributable to the event. GreenPower, your questions answered;

What is renewable energy?

- » Renewable energy is electricity created from renewable sources such as the sun, wind, water and waste. Electricity generated from renewable energy sources produces zero or minimal greenhouse gasses.
- » Renewable energy refers to investments made into renewable generation since 1997. AGL has invested more than $2 billion in building new renewable generation. AGL is the leading integrated energy provider and has the largest portfolio of privately owned renewable energy generation in Australia.

What does GreenPower Accreditation mean?

- » GreenPower accreditation means the renewable energy product is endorsed by a collection of state governments that manage the GreenPower™ program.
- » The accreditation program independently audits AGL to ensure the right amount and type of renewable energy is purchased by AGL.
- » For more information on the National GreenPower Accreditation Program, visit http://www.greenpower.gov.au/about/what_accreditation_means.htm

Going Green is Easy!

- » Hosting an event at Museum of Sydney is easy. Contact us today to discuss how you can make your next event green.